

Student Brag Sheet

Class of 2019

Identifying an appropriate college choice begins with a thorough assessment of your interests, abilities, dreams, goals, and reasons for attending college. You should consider this assignment your opportunity to tell me about yourself, providing me information I will use now to help you identify colleges for you to consider. In addition, I may use this information in the future when writing your school letter of recommendation in support of your college applications. Formulating thoughtful, detailed responses to these questions may also serve as a framework for subsequent college essays you write.

Completing the Student Brag Sheet:

1. Take your time and be thoughtful and thorough with your answers.
2. This information will only be shared with Mrs. Willcox – so be honest with yourself and with me. Work on understanding your strengths and weaknesses (everyone has them) to help establish a solid foundation for future decision-making.
3. Your responses to this form MUST be submitted in typed form. I recommend you save this so that you have it to refer to and revise in the months ahead. Be particularly careful with your list of activities. Completing this thoroughly now will save you a lot of time and energy during your VERY busy senior year.

- 4). When typing your responses you need not repeat the question.

Should you have any questions about this questionnaire, please contact me.

7) What other characteristics/programs/activities do you want to be considered when you are creating a list of colleges to investigate? Examples of other factors could include: Athletics, ROTC, the availability of academic scholarships, learning support services, theater, study abroad, a particular foreign language, etc.)

Activities and Interests: (Start Typing This Portion)

8) What activity that you have done has the most meaning to you and why?

9) Community service is a required component of the DWS curriculum. What have you given and gained from your service project(s)?

10) What special or unique talents, skills or hobbies do you possess?

Goals and Values:

11) What would you say are the three values most important to you? Do you have a personal motto so to speak?

12) Do you feel ready for college or not? And why?

EDUCATION:

13) Looking over the past several years at DWS, what classroom experiences have you valued most? Why? What teaching style/teachers most appeals to you? Be specific, cite examples.

14) Describe an interest (it doesn't have to be strictly academic) where you truly fulfilled your potential, exceeded the expectations set for you, or just made yourself especially proud. Maybe you made a good grade in a class you found really difficult. Maybe you found yourself so intrigued by a topic in class that you pursued additional study on your own. Maybe you worked incredibly hard to excel in music or athletics. Maybe you have started your own business or have taken significant responsibility for something or someone in your family. You may think your answer to this question is boring – but it can really set you apart. This question is VERY important to me.

15) Aside from your immediate family, who do you admire most and why?

Thank you for your time and effort.

Please hand this packet to me and sign up for a junior meeting on the calendar outside my office. Please be on time for the date and time you pick. Do not sign up for a meeting until I have this packet.

I look forward to working with you and finding your future.
